Subject: Welcome to the asean-vust group

Hello,

I've added you to my asean-vust group at eGroups, a free, easy-to-use email group service. As a member of this group, you may send messages to the entire group using just one email address: asean-vust@egroups.com. eGroups also makes it easy to store photos and files, coordinate events, and more.

Here's a description of the group:

This is the discussion group of Task Force 3 of the ASEAN VUST Proposal. Discussion shall focus on the program development and modes of delivery. Only invited resource persons are included and encouraged to contribute to this discussion group. Dr. Aura C. Matias has been designated to act as moderator.

Here's my introductory message for you:

Greetings friends and colleagues! You have been included in the discussion group of Task Force 3 for the "ASEAN Virtual University of Science and Technology" Proposal. Discussion primarily will focus on the program development and modes of delivery. Dr. Aura C. Matias, has been designated to act as moderator.

Your contributions shall be used as the basis for discussion during the 3rd Working Group Meeting to

Hello friends,

May I humbly propose that members give names of the intended programs/courses. Obviously, these must be supported with a short write-up on the background of the respective proposal. The rationale of the implementation of the program must also be clearly stated. Their objectives must also be clear.

The course structure must be clearly tabled, with subjects clearly stated in every semester. From the specified entrance requirements, total credits required must be stated for graduation.

As for the modes of delivery, the feasibility of every proposed method will have to depend on the intended courses.

Looking forward to receiving the above soonest possible.

A lot of thanks,

Regards,

Rom.

Subject: Re: [asean-vust] Security of Egroups site

Dear friends,

Regarding the security aspects of the egroup that Aura has set up, I have the following comments:

1. As Aura has stated, the eGroup web site has a fairly good set of security safeguards, and we have to remember that anything that goes through or is connected to the Internet is never really secure nor private.
2. I do not anticipate our discussions to deal with very sensitive topics that will require a large measure of privacy. In any case, if a member of the group feels that a message that he wants to send should be private, then he can send it directly to Aura using Aura's e-mail address rather than replying to the egroup. Aura can then decide to send it to the rest of the group using their e-mail addresses rather than the egroup.
3. It will be easier for the moderator to manage the discussion group rather than with e-mail lists.
4. The site may be more reliable than an ordinary server hosting the group. There may be times when our networks or servers may be down, inaccessible or may have problems, but the eGroups site will mostly be available anywhere.
5. Perhaps we can have the sentiments of all of the members of the group about this issue so that we can decide whether to continue using the egroups or use e-mail lists.

Regards,

E.G. Atanacio

Subject: [asean-vust] Security of Egroups site

Dear friends,

A concern regarding the appropriateness of the Egroups site for our discussion on the ASEAN VUST has been cited. I wish to assure everyone that this site has the sufficient safe guards to keep the access and distribution to the group limited to only those who have been duly enlisted by the group moderator.

I am currently moderating one other group and a member of several others for the past 2 years. In my experience, this site has satisfactorily served my needs. I have chosen the option to pre-approve all messages sent to the egroups prior to its distribution to the address list to further ensure that the discussion remains among ourselves. No one else but me is authorized to subscribe any person in the listing.

Nevertheless, I will appreciate comments from others regarding this matter. If it is not the pleasure of the group to use this medium for our discussion, then I will gladly remove us from the Egroups.

Prof. Atanacio can perhaps help elaborate on this, please.

Warm regards to everyone!

Dr. Aura C. Matias
